Patterns: way of life

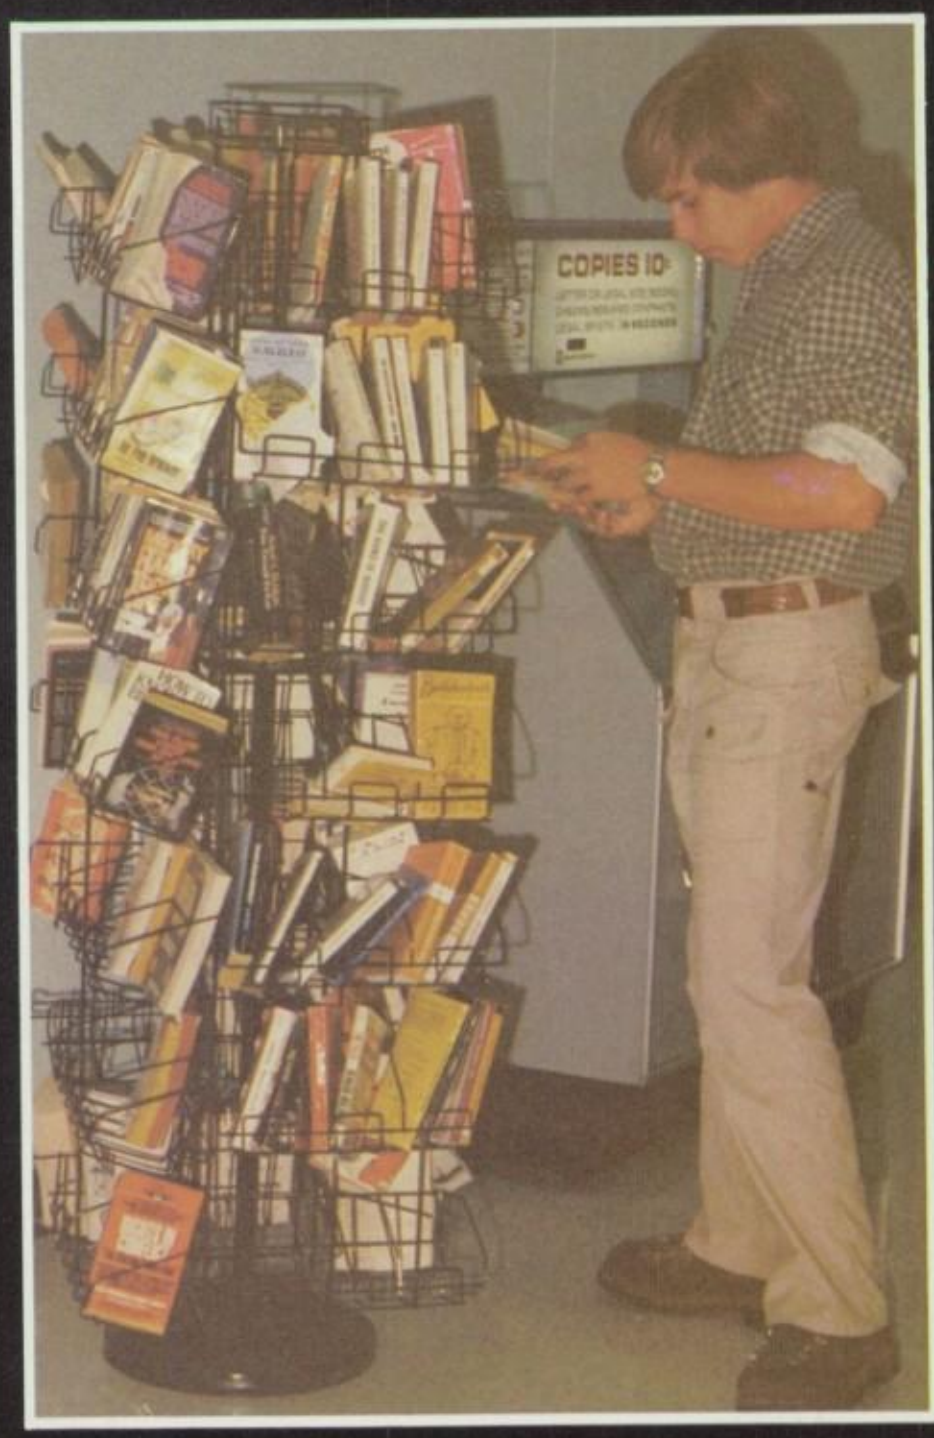
We all use someone or something as a pattern for our lives. It can be a special person, perhaps a historical figure or maybe a close friend. For others a pattern is an ideal built around what we want to be when we grow older.

The pattern is not always consistent or continuous. As we grow physically and mentally our patterns may change.

We see patterns in the routine followed at school. Walking the same route from class to class, going the same place for lunch every day or even wearing the same outfit every Monday can illustrate patterns. Our choice of the patterns we follow may be influenced by peer pressure, teacher's attitudes, school environment and endless other things.

Patterns is the theme of this yearbook. The staff chose this theme because it shows something we not only can see, but an idea we consider important. In this yearbook, look for the patterns in pictures, layouts, and copy. Notice the patterned grid which appears throughout the book.

There is a pattern in our lives, in our school and even in this yearbook. If we can find those patterns we may be able to understand how they work.



Patterns: pit of sameness

We watch the same T.V. programs, listen to the same radio station, invite the same people to the same parties and talk to the same friends on the phone.

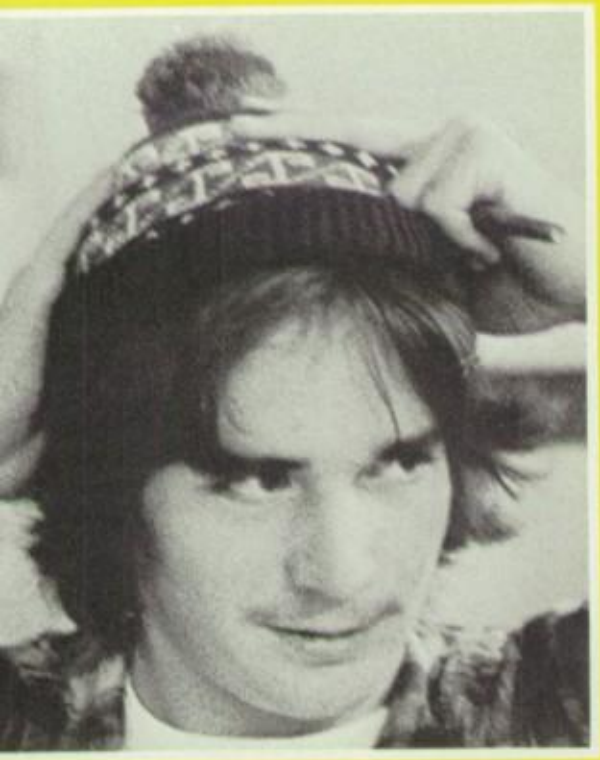
This is the pattern often known as a rut. High school can become a pit of sameness, maybe broken by a date to Homecoming or making the swim team.

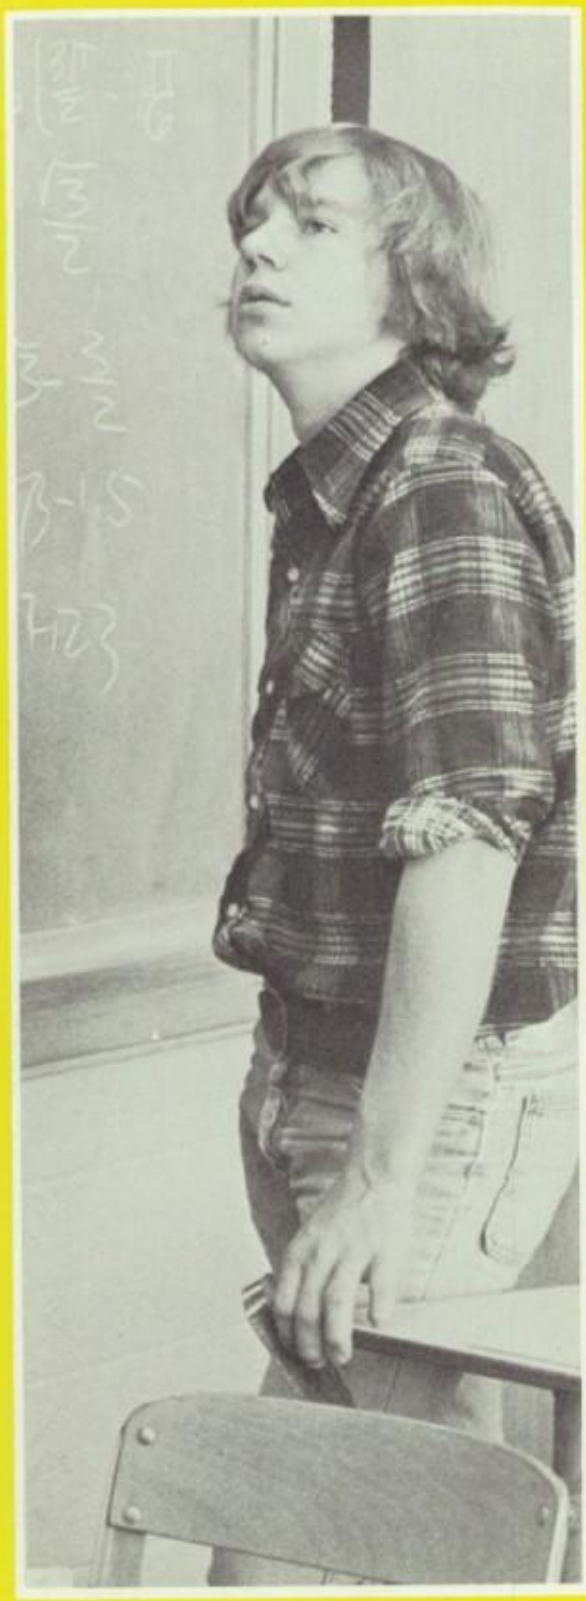
Psychologists encourage us to do our own thing and break away. Southeast, however, encourages sameness. Changes are rarely encouraged and as student leaders know, to try anything new hardly seems worth the effort.

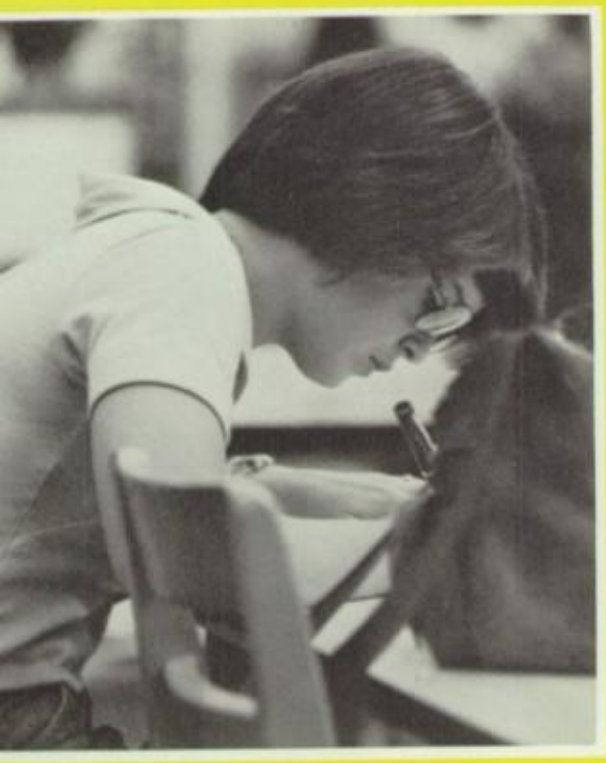
The importance of the individual is lowered when some teachers give the same lectures and tests every year. It is logical, too, that teachers grow impatient with the student who consistently cheats on the duplicated exams.

Of course there are those people who try so hard to be different they fall into a radical rut. Their rebellion from old patterns creates new ones for others.

The point is, however, to see these patterns and decide whether they should become a part of us.







Patterns : influential

The design we choose for living can reveal many kinds of patterns. There are similarities in our friend's personalities, in the kinds of movies we watch and the books we read. Other similarities are evident in the music we listen to and the way we dress. These are all patterns that shape the way we live.

Outside forces control our life-styles too. The election of a president, a change in student leaders, and the death of a friend can have a great impact on the patterns in our lives.

Each school year we encounter new people with new ideas and different patterns from our own. After each encounter the shape of our lives has been altered a little.

With all these forces creating an influence on us we should be able to see the patterns our own lives create. And because of this realization the patterns can have a positive impact on the lives of others.

Nucleus councils advise

Deciding the agendas for Student Council meetings is the eleven member Executive Council. The members meet twice a month to volunteer new ideas and solutions to problems. The members talk about things that need to be brought up during actual Student Council meetings. This year the Student Council put together the student directories, which sold over 700 copies. The group also sponsored all dances and ceremonies for Homecoming and Sweetheart. Friendship Fund proved to be successful as Southeast collected over $600 for United Way.

"I was very happy with the way Student Council worked together as a whole, especially when committees were formed and the members carried out their jobs," said Scott Wells, Student Body President.

Five members of the student body are Youth Council members. Debbie Hammond, Susan Keck, Scott Wells, seniors, Betty Fitchett, junior, and Jim Dodd, sophomore, were selected by faculty members and Administrators to meet with the Board of Education and other city high school Youth Councils. They met once a month and exchanged ideas and discussed city wide issues.

Rookies gain experience

Inexperienced, yet enthusiastic describes the newspaper and yearbook staffs.

Despite advisor Ms. Mary Beth Grange's ideas to the contrary, the Stampede staff usually worked a week then rested a week in the bimonthly publishing schedule. The paper covered some touchy issues including the ever-present open lunch controversy, pupils loitering across the street from the school and the macing of students at football games.

Nancy Basham, Diane Musgrove and Mary Blue put together ideas for the yearbook at different summer workshops.

After spending late afternoons and Saturday mornings assembling the 180 page book, the staff members, waited from March until May for the arrival of the two and one-half tons of yearbooks.

Photographers develop skills

Cameras slung around their necks, photographers were a common sight at school events. Snapping pictures for both the newspaper and yearbook, the five guys spent many long hours behind the darkroom doors of C-1.

Quill and Scroll, a national honorary society held a city wide initiation in late winter. Members were picked based upon their B grade average and their contribution to the journalism program.

The Photography Club, an informative type club, met every other week during the year. They discussed new cameras, additional equipment and film processes. Mr. Marvin Huffman, sponsor of the club taught them the care and proper handling of cameras. This club didn't promote activities but gave information for the benefit of those involved.

O.E., D.E., work at education

Jobs were the watchword for Distributive Education and Office Education students. The out of school programs prepared students for full time employment in merchandising and secretarial work after graduation.

D.E. students concentrated on making the school bookstore fiscally sound. Tuesdays were "10 cent" days and discounts on candy and treats were popular around school. The eighteen students were also members of Distrubitive Education Clubs of America and attended conventions in the spring.

The nineteen Office Education students spent an hour and a half in class in the mornings and then went to work. In November they worked on mailings for the Institute of Logopedics Christmas card sale and gave turkeys to needy families during the holidays.

The students in both groups were graded by their performances on the jobs. They were paid by the hour along with receiving three hours credit.

"O.E. students this year had a real desire to better themselves in their class work as well as on the job," said Mrs. Linda Morgan, O.E, sponsor.

FHA presents pupppet shows; HERO sells stuffed farm animals

Future Home makers of America began their second year at Southeast. Meeting the first and third Fridays of each month during third hour five officers were chosen. President, Joyce Marks; Vice President, Linda Frye; Secretary, Kathy Keeler; Treasurer, Vernice Parish; and Gary George, in charge of Public Relations. One of their first projects was to take puppet talks out to grade school to demonstrate nutrition and metric measures.

Home Economics Related Occupations, HERO, class studied jobs offered in home economics. One of their projects was making stuffed farm animals. Students could be found at the parking lot door selling their stuffed creations to those who had ordered them.

Clubs provide outlet for unusual talents

Yell leaders, a new cheering group did gymnastic stunts and chants at basketball games. According to sponsor Mrs. Verna Buchanon, the group was a "tremendous addition."

T-shirts featuring railroad tracks were uniform for Southeast Express. Members met in the students lounge to practice their dancing and routines almost every day.

Chess club members met to pursue a favorite hobby. Mr. Floyd Bayer, sponsor, told the group about moves and strategy.

Mr. Marion Hodges led the science club. Many members planned their projects for the spring city-wide science fair.

Friendly faces communicate in any language

Christmas parties, caroling and guest speakers led the way for the Language clubs.

German club, went Christmas caroling to German homes. Then they had a Christmas Dinner in a German restaurant.

Spanish club had a guest speaker, Christina De Cuhna from Brazil, She showed slides and told members about life in Brazil.

Madame Hageman, and her French club decorated the traditional Christmas tree.

Tradition again took over when all three clubs had a party in the decorated cafeteria before Christmas. Food and fun were plentiful.

Drama, debate exercise their knowledge in communicating through speech, theater

Silly hats, funny costumes and shouts of "hail Thespians" marked the beginning of Thespian initiation weeks in the fall and spring.

The initiates had to collect points by working on major productions.

The group of about 30 Thespians, directed by their sponsor, Mr. Omar, presented three productions in the spring. The productions were "The Importance of Being Earnest," "Royal Gambit," and "The Miser."

The Thespians also sponsored carnation sales and played major roles in "Romeo and Juliet" and "Ten Little Indians."

Penal reform was the topic for the debate team. They debated the idea of separating the hardened criminals from the one-time offenders.

Through logic, organization and research the team gathered information used in debate tournaments.

They went to overnight debate camps and sponsored a debate at Southeast in the fall.

New clubs organized; Pep Band livens games

The Southeast Radio Club, KLOK, broadcasts daily before and after school and at lunch. It existed mainly to provide both on the air broadcasting experience and teach basic techniques of operating a commercial radio station. It also provided background music and various types of information for students and the listening audience.

"This year we got off to a slow start due to technical difficulties, but as the year progressed the club really came through." said Mark Ervin, senior.

"I'm very proud of the fact that the club has really improved this year, and I hope this kind of progress continues for the club."

The Sedgwick County Youth Association for Retarded Citizens (YARC) is a volunteer organization of persons between the ages of 13 and 25, devoted to the betterment of all retarded persons. Members must contribute five hours of active service annually to sustain their membership.

The pep band provided music at pep assemblies and played tunes for the pompon girls' routines at basketball games. This high spirited music group generated excitement wherever they went.

New addition to performance gives variety to halftime show

Half time shows during football season were filled with entertainment when the pompon girls, color guard and twirlers performed.

The color guard was a new organization composed of eight members. Carrying flags, the color gaurd marched on the field with the band and twirlers. They presented routines with flags for each number the band played.

Along with the color guard and band, the three junior twirlers added variety to the shows. This was their first year on the field with these groups.

"It makes you feel good when you're out on the field because you're doing something a lot of other people can't do," said Becky Schwartz, twirler.

The pompon girls, a precise drill team, did a lot more than march. They supported the team by giving dinners for the football players and decorating halls and lockers. They added the finishing touch to half time shows.

Banner Girls, Cheerleaders promote awareness of sports

The work of the Banner Girls and Cheerleaders involved more than attending games and meets.

The 13 seniors in Banner Girls promoted the minor sports by decorating the halls with posters before sports events. They brought food to the meets for the guys to eat and worked to recognize minor sports at Southeast.

"Being in Banner Girls helped me to know what's going on in school and has made me appreciate Southeast more," said Mylene Sayler.

Through fund raisings and support on radio and in the papers, the Varsity and Jr. Varsity Cheerleaders backed the men on the football and basketball teams. They raised money through a car wash, button sales and ribbon sales and sales of SE emblems. Head Cheerleaders, Liz Wright and Sherry Brane, led the group in organizing pep assemblies.

Choir introduces sophs to SE

Beginning their first year at Southeast, members of sophomore choir found it different and challenging. Adding to the knowledge they obtained in Jr. High, the group went on to be an outstanding choir.

Performing at concerts and City and State Wide Contests the Sophomore Mixed Ensemble and Girl's Ensemble worked in before school practices. The groups are an extracurricular activity and the students are required to maintain a 'B average.

Music groups uphold reputation

Sharing the limelight, the Jr. Misses and Men's Ensemble performed in many concerts through the year.

Christmas and Choralesque composed the high points of the year. The 29 girls in Jr. Misses sang for various events including women's meetings and business banquets.

Symphony concert tops year

A Christmas concert with the Wichita Symphony Orchestra highlighted the events of the musical year for Choraleers and Madrigals.

The 128 voice choir presented seven Christmas carols accompanied by the symphony under the direction of Dr. Jay Decker. The Madrigals sang "Twas the Night Before Christmas" featuring Santa Claus.

In addition to the regular concerts for parents, the groups performed around the city. Madrigals sponsored a fall invitational and a formal invitational at Christmas.

Members also held major roles in "Amahl and the Night Visitors," the Christmas opera, and Choralesque, the variety show presented at the end of the year.

"Madrigals is a lot of work, and sometimes it's hard to keep going, but I don't think I could give it up," commented two year Madrigal, Pete Presson.

Principals break pattern; promote individualism

"A pattern is a desirable and necessary thing. It is only when a person shackles that routine and when the routine dominates our life, that it becomes undesirable," said Dr. Vernon O. Kirby, commenting on the yearbook theme.

Dr. Kirby became principal of Southeast High School three years ago after holding the job at East High. This year he established mid-term finals. The two hour exams were given to all students January 13 and 14 at the end of the semester.

"Because we are on a semester basis, it seemed only logical to complete each semester with an exam," remarked Dr. Kirby.

"Our main objective is that we're constantly trying to make the school a friendly atmosphere, where students can concentrate in a warm, friendly and stimulating environment," commented Dr. Kirby.

Dr. Kirby and the assistant principals encouraged teachers to be more inovative and to treat each student as an individual.

In charge of all school responsibilities while the principal is out of the building is Merlin Keely, associate principal. Assistant principal, Mel Johnson worked as the athletic coordinator, and Willie Johnson, also associate principal, was head of school operations.

Office personnel handle confrontations

. Handling day to day confrontations of student traffic in the office are office secretaries, clerks and bookkeepers. Although their jobs may not include receiving glory or recognition, their reward is helping and meeting students.

Office secretary Mrs. Charlene Smith handles the general traffic through the office.

"The Southeast students are a great bunch of kids, their attitudes are improving each year," said Mrs. Smith.

Taking all excused absences from students and parents is attendence clerk Mrs. Lois Jonker. This year the office proctors recorded student absences each hour to determine who was skipping class or who was ill.

"Occasionally, we get false callers with young, teenage voices to excuse their friends absences. We aren't fooled, we just call their parents. It becomes real interesting," said Mrs. Jonker.

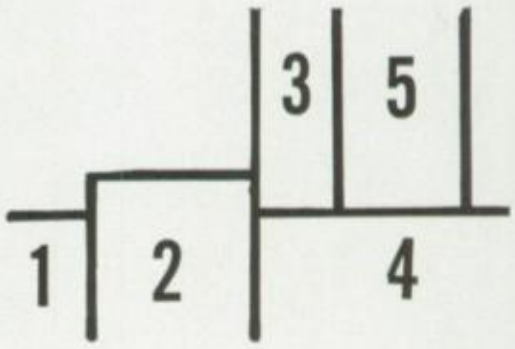
Career lab successsful ; Librarians discourage theft

Helping students with problems in scheduling and planning for their future, the guidance center added to their facilities by adding the career lab in F-8.

"It took a while to catch on but now it sees quite a bit of traffic. Mr. Adams is there, helping to get information on jobs. He has even found some jobs for students by setting up interviews," stated Mr. Clark Beck, college counselor.

The librarians encouraged the use of the library but tried to discourage theft because of the high rate of theft in the past few years. The possibility of installing an alarm system was discussed at faculty meetings and in the school newspaper.



1. Students find time to do homewo while waiting in line for counslor. 2. B coming involved with students' proble is a large part of George Adam's job. Librarian Patricia Browne checks on bo theft. 4. Gathering together for a Chri mas party, the librarians take a rest fro their job. 5. Personnel keep school intact

School staff members spend time creating a pleasant atmosphere for the students. The cooks are no exception. They come early to prepare breakfasts, a new program at Southeast. In addition, the cooks prepare about 500 lunches a day.

"The food is basically the same as in other years, but people are eating more hamburgers," stated Madeline Supancic, cafeteria supervisor.

Student protection was provided by security guards. Additional equipment was bought to help students and security. A machine with a battery recharger and tire pump was used to help students with car problems. Also a converted golf cart was obtained by Southeast security to help patrol the parking lot.

Students faced many problems at school. Security guard Sylvester Wilson said he thought the number one problem was, "dope. It's here. You can see and smell it. It's gotten out of hand. It only hurts those who use it."

The custodians were constantly working to help keep the school clean and intact.

They were most easily found after lunch sweeping up the trash left from open lunch. Jack Langford, head custodian said, "Open lunch will be a problem as long as there are food machines in the building."

Science, Math develop comprensive programs

Keeping students' career interests in mind, science and math teachers compiled a comprehensive program to better prepare students for college.

"We have almost double the enrollment than any other program," stated Mr. Doug Fulton, math department chairman. Enrollment in science classes was also higher than any high school in Wichita.

With eight full time teachers in both departments, the main emphasis in class varied.

Mr. Marion Hodges, science department chairman, confirmed popularity was not the main aim.

"I took trigonometry because it will help me in college," said Vicki Schmitt, senior.

English follows trend; returns to basics

Emphasizing reading, writing, and understanding the Language Arts Department followed the trend of less experimentation.

"As a result of visits with Kansas colleges, we have found that their standards have become more demanding; therefore, we have had to reemphasize basic writing skills to prepare students for college composition," said Mr. Dave Olson.

Advanced placement English was offered for seniors and many received college credit after taking a standard exam.

Fine Arts reassure talent

Four separate units which fit together as a whole is probably the best way to describe the fine arts department.

Drama classes were extremely active in presenting to the student body "Ten Little Indians," "Many Moons," "Romeo and Juliet," and the Thespian productions in the spring. A ground-cloth was purchased for the use of the classes.

The music department, vocal and instrumental, was busy practicing for and presenting concerts. Christmas was an especially busy time for all the groups. Choralesque in the spring kept the classes working all winter.

Art classes spent time perfecting their talents in the many medias of art. Entrees were placed in the scholastic art competition.

The efforts of the entire fine arts department culminated in the opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," presented at Christmas. Each of the four divisions worked to make the opera a success.

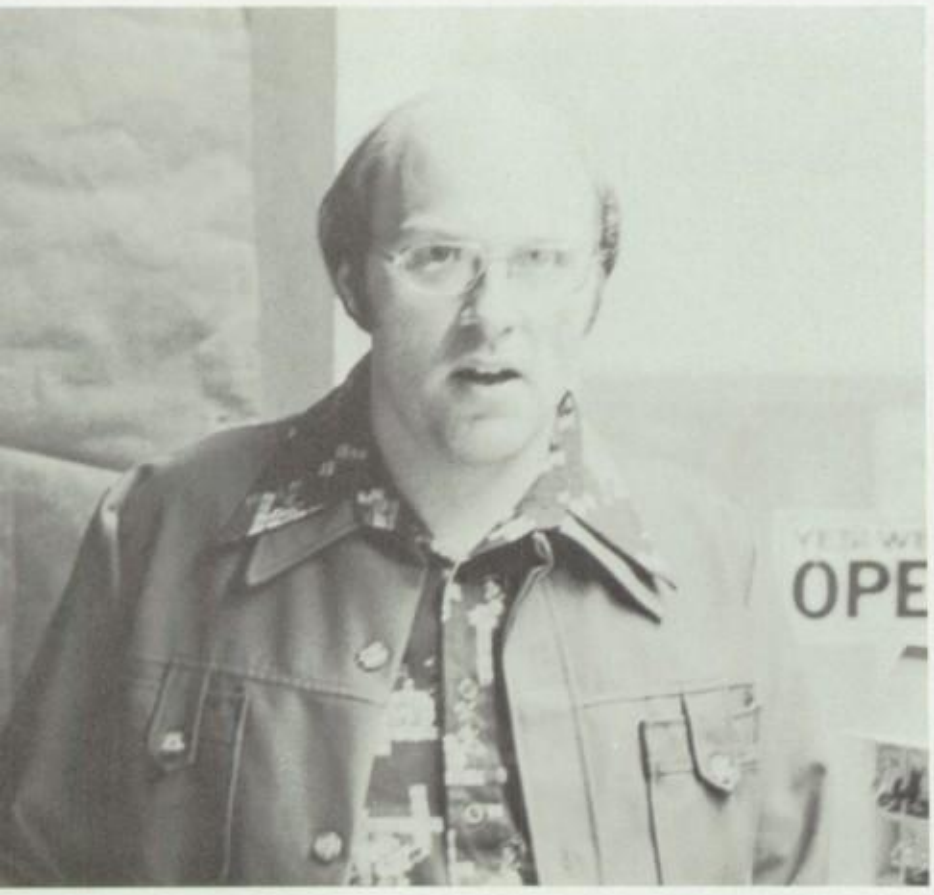
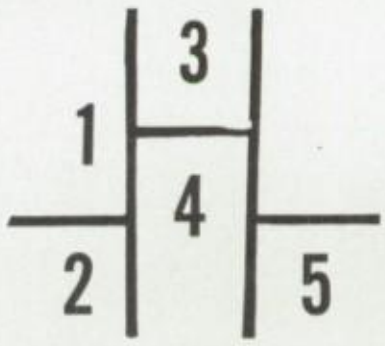
Business courses prepare students for future jobs

With the number of college business majors booming and society demanding trained men and women, Southeast was a part of this pattern. Enrollment has skyrocketed in business education classes, said Mr. Mike Hockett.

Distributive Education (DECA) and Office Education (OEA) are two active organizations with members from the business education classes. Accounting, record-keeping, typing, shorthand, business arithmatic and a variety of other business related courses were offered to students.





1. Students type for accuracy. 2. Dale Hover, junior, gets assistance from Gleam Thomas. 3. Mike Hockett organizes Buff's Corner before opening. 4. Hulda Stucky instructs beginning typing. 5. Sophomore Keith Zimmer puzzles over a term paper.

Expansion was the key word for the Social Studies department.

In addition to the courses of U.S., Russian and World History, and government, humanities, psychology, and sociology classes, the social studies department offered anthropology taught by Mr. Mike Kelting.

Even though two credits of social studies are required for graduation, elective classes were comfortably filled. Field trips to speeches and museums were some class activities.

Humanities, sociology and psychology classes provided students with an opportunity to study many different aspects of man.

The history classes, however, dealt with the facts of man's existence, not individually, but as nations and countries.

Because foreign language courses are offered as electives, enrollment was limited to students who actually wanted to learn about the different cultures and languages of other nations.

Southeast offered four languages including Latin, German, Spanish and French. Teaching Latin, was Mrs. Helen Hiebert. The romantic language, also known as French, was taught by Mrs Helen Hageman and Mrs. Jan Weldin. Spanish, by enrollment the most popular language, was instructed by Miss Kathryn Wiens, Ms. Melissa Masoner, and Mrs. Hiebert. Herr Marlin Schrag made it possible for his first, second and third year German students to get the real taste of the language, when authentic German food was served.

The effects of Title IX swept across the nation giving equal rights to women in education. According to some critics, men's physical education came virtually to a stand still. This year the Southeast physical education department ironed out many early problems they encountered with co-ed gym.

Mr. Don Lamb was appointed coordinator for the physical education program this year after being Athletic Director.

"We're probably the only true co-ed system ever at Southeast," said Mr. Lamb,"But I totally disagree with co-ed. It is more beneficial to girls than guys."

Co-ed offered a variety of team sports with emphasis placed on the individual sport. Flag football, tennis, track, archery and flickerball were played outdoors when weather permitted, while swimming, basketball, weights, volleyball, bowling and table tennis were just a few of the games taught indoors.

"I really enjoyed co-ed gym this year because the girls livened up the class,"said John Harper, sophomore.

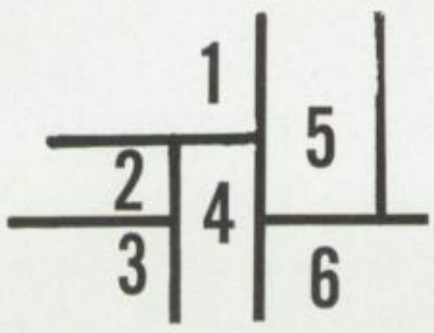
Industrial arts provide career opportunities

Driver's education and the industrial shop classes are only a few of the widely offered courses at Southeast.

Driver's ed offers the student a chance to learn to drive correctly. It saves the cost of a driving school.

Industrial shop includes classes such as auto information, metals and plastics.

These courses are designed to help students decide on jobs and interests and help them fix their own things.



1. Shop students listen intently. 2. Dean Rutherford saws with care. 3. Jeff Campbell learns craft ideas in shop class. 4. Students learn all the steps of 'how to' before starting their work. 5. Home Ec., Special Ed., instill knowledge of everyday life

Courses offered in the Home Economics department prepared, not only girls, but boys as well, for real life situations confronted in the adult world. Home and family living offered to juniors and seniors was the only sex-education class available at Southeast.

Food and clothing, consumer education and child development all dealt with the home environment.

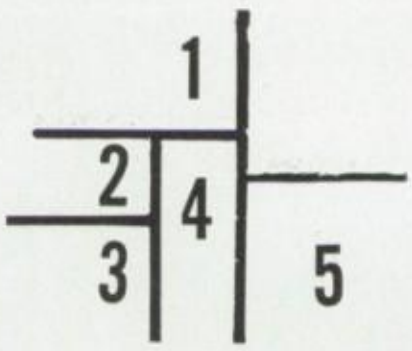
"I enjoyed seeking the knowledge that I needed to know before I get married from my home and family course," said Bob Wasson, senior.

Two basic areas of special education offered at Southeast were E.M.H. (Educable Mentally Handicapped) and Hearing Impaired classes.

Hearing Impaired was the only program offered of its kind in Wichita. Teachers, Mr. Don Nichols and Mrs. Barbara Adkins interpreted for the hard of hearing and deaf students and taught speech reading and English. The classes involved working on speech, lip reading, vocabulary development, reading improvement, survival skills, tutoring and sign language classes.

"With some students we had to go to their classes each day and translate what the teacher was saying," said Mr. Nichols. "because the teachers are constantly moving which makes lip reading difficult for the deaf students."

Nadine Williams guided the E.M.H. classes this year.



1. Verna Buchanan prepares students for everyday life. 2. Planned Parenthood worker Connie Duval was a guest speaker in Home and Family. 3. Doris Mayhew, sponsor of FHA. 4. Ernest Owens, sophomore, mixes up some old-time fudge. 5. Leone Bare explains a reading test to Daryl Powell, sophomore.

CLASSES

Individuals pursue personal goals

Providing dominent leadership throughout their senior year was the graduating class of 1977. In 36 short weeks, the class upheld its seniority in all aspects of school life.

Graduating classes of Southeast fall into the same mold. From the time they are initiated as "baby buffs" until the joyous moment the classmates receive their graduation diplomas, school life falls into a repeating pattern.

The senior class of '77 was one of individual achievement but surpassed others with prowess in sports, scholastics and above all spirit.

Academically, the class of '77 upheld its prestige as seven seniors made the elite list of National Merit semi-finalists while thirteen others made honorable mention.

Seniority played a big part in varsity competitions as the seniors exhibited outstanding athletic performances throughout the year. Seniors were also influential and the main ingredients in the music, drama, journalism and pep organizations.

Days at Southeast will be remembered as a learning experience and a place of high achievements, not only academically but socially as well. And the patterns. that the class of '77 developed will be remembered and continued.

Feelings of distress are seen as Barbara Cowles, and Sheryl Copenhaver, seniors, watch Kapaun Mt. Carmel defeat Southeast.

Summer of '76 seemed to leave a scar on many students of Southeast High School. Five young students died within a four week span. They were Joan Labrie and Rudy Martin, members of the graduating class of 1977 and Sarah Attwater, Tom Riley and Tim Tobin, members of the class of 1978;

It was a tragic experience and the first time that many of us were forced to accept death. Somehow, it seems that the death of a grandparent or someone older is easier to understand than the death of a best friend or a classmate.

Our lives are patterned by three major phases: birth, life and death. And it is impossible to break this pattern. Accepting death as a teen-age studen becomes hard and confusing, but person must realize that death is a majo ingredient in each of our lives.

Joan, Rudy, Sarah, Tom and Tir were missed by everyone. Sadness, tears and comforting friends seemed to brin together concerned students at a tim of such sorrow.

It is hoped that the students of South east will not dwell on the causes o when, why and how these people died but instead, continue the memory o what each of the five students did an remember them as individuals, for the influences will last a lifetime.

Work load increases; Responsibility accepted

Juniors have always followed precedents set by previous classes. This year was no exception. Juniors were involved in more school activities like student council, language clubs and the United Way Drive.

The United Way saw the rivalry between the juniors and seniors in the Powder Puff football game. Fierce competition between the "Junior Jockettes" and the "Senior Foxes" ended in a six-all draw.

Not all was fun and games. Many juniors took the PSAT—NMSQT to prepare for college entrance tests next year. They found life was busier than before with more homework and extra-curricular activities. After school jobs took up even more precious time for many class members.

After one year of school, juniors began to feel they were a more integral part of the school. Students joined organizations including those which restrict their membership to juniors and seniors like choraleers and executive council.

"Your junior year is the year to get involved and have fun as one begins to anticipate their last year of school," stated Diane Thompson, junior.

First year at S.E. fulfilling

Arriving from three different junior highs, the sophomore class managed to complete their first year at Southeast with little difficulty. A boost from upper classmen helped make this year fulfilling.

Sophomores made their class a part of the school by attending school dances and games. The sophomore football team ended with an undefeated season and many baby buffs travelled to Kansas City to support the Varsity team at State.

The 666 sophomores were the first class to take the ninth grade proficiency tests in accordance with a new state law.

"In 1979, a diploma will mean that this class not only came to school, but domonstrated a competancy in math and reading," said Mrs. Jerri Bugg, Sophomore Counselor.

Sophomore Council was active in school decisions. Led by their president, Jim Dodd, the class had a major part in planning a disco dance and bringing the movie "Time To Run" to Southeast.

"This year is going all right. The sophomores are always looked at as the lowest class. We can be a class that can take the lead," Dodd concluded.

STUDENT LIFE

Life out of school significant

Venturing off campus, many Southeast students participated in out of school activities. School had a different atmosphere for those people since it wasn't always the nucleus of their education. Those students had just as much influence on the community as many who were involved only in school functions.

Possibly the high cost of living caused students to seek part-time jobs after school. Many students were employed at Towne East Square shopping center while others found jobs in offices, restaurants, gas stations and grocery stores.

Nationally known athletes from Southeast competed on AAU gymnastics, swimming, karate and tennis teams instead of the programs offered at school.

Vacations were not limited to just school holidays. Guys spent Fall weekends shooting pheasant and quail and catching fish. During the winter, "Ski America" sent three bus loads of Southeast students to the slopes at Breckenridge, Colorado, in January.

Many religious and ethnic groups were represented in the student body. Young Life, a Christian youth group, met once a week throughout the year and sponsored a ski trip in early January. B.B.Y.O. was a Jewish youth group which met all year long at Temple Emanuel synagogue.

Hang outs and attractions varied with each individual. McDonalds was a ever popular attraction after Friday night football and basketball games. Pogo's disco, Lemans Speedway, the Flicker, College Inn, and N.C.R. were hot spots for the more rowdy bunch. Midnight worship services, movies and plain ole studying were other alternatives.

Ceremonies changed in '76

Homecoming traditions changed in 1976. King, Mark Bankston was crowned at the pep assembly Friday, October 22, instead of at the dance. Breaking the pattern of always electing a football player as King, Mark became the first gymnast to behold the honor.

Homecoming week, October 18 to 23, was solely sponsored by Student Council. The week's activities churned out surprising involvememt, as the students displayed their spirit by wearing hats, boots, and t-shirts on their designated days.

The crowning of the 1976 Homecoming Queen took place after a 75 car Honk Parade weaved its way to South High field. The crowd witnessed the Golden Buffaloes as they tripped the Carroll Eagles, 42-6, and watched as Elizabeth Wright was announced Homecoming Queen. Kristen Olander, 1975 Queen, presented her with the traditional crown, roses, and hugs.

Concluding the week's activities, was the all-school dance held Saturday night, at the Holiday Inn Plaza. Two hundred couples danced to the music of "Storm".

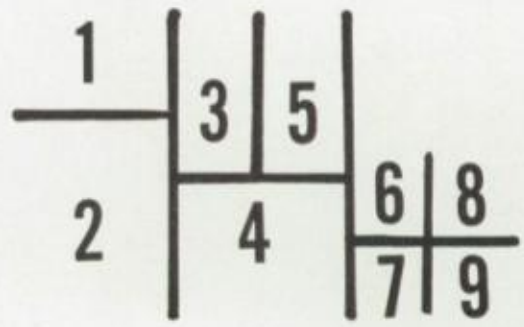
Play casts suspense

Agatha Christie's murder mystery "Ten Little Indians", took Southeast by surprise October 5 and 6. Performed by the Fine Arts Department, the chilling suspense play was directed by Mr. David Omar.

The story involved ten people trapped on an island under false pretenses. A homicidal maniac, Sir Lawrence Wargrave, played by Gordon Grubbs, senior, concocted strange deaths for eight of the people, before he himself was shot. Throughout the play, the deaths are forewarned by the unexplained crushing of ten Indian statuettes.

"The audience reaction was of greater suspense than I predicted," said Mr. Omar, "I was also very happy with the casts and crews performances and I felt they used their talents effectively."

Rehearsals for the play lasted three and one half weeks. The part of the maid, Mrs. Rogers, was played by Paive Karkkainen, senior, an exchange student from Finland.



1. Discussing their past experiences are Kevin Potucek and Mark Shore, seniors. 2. Gordon Grubbs, senior, listens to, senior, Bart Ewonus' confession. 3. Vandalism mars spirit week

Designated as "class rivalry week," spirit week began on a peaceful Monday, Feb. 14th and ended with an uncertain future Friday.

Tuesday was designated as Sophomore Day, and sophomores wore green to persuade teachers to vote for them. Wednesday, a professional auctioneer sponsored by the Banner Girls, sold Southeast girls to a wild crowd of boys. Junior boys were seen dashing through the halls with red painted faces while a few of the girls wore red shorts and leotards. Thursday was the classic senior day. Blue painted grafitti was splattered on the walls and doors of the south entrance.

The administration threatened to end spirit week and class rivalry because of the damage.

"It widened the gap between the classes and did not at any time bring them together," said Mel Johnson, activities director.

Fridays' closing spirit week activities was the crowning of Ted Rehilhan, sophomore, as ugly man for 1977.

Two crowned Sweetheart queen; Dancers surprised at announcement

Confusion and complications plagued Sweetheart dance planners. Because game dates were switched, the crowning was done at the dance February 19.

About 300 students at the dance watched with surprise as two queens, Juleah Jones and Ann Metz, were crowned 1977 Sweetheart Queens.

A tie in the voting by winter sports participants resulted in the unusual double ceremony.

The girls' escorts, Ron Hunter and John McCroskey, along with 1976 Sweetheart Queen Cindy Cushing helped crown the bewildered queens. Both girls received the traditional roses and hugs.

Student Council members purchased an extra crown and also decided to crown the king for the first time. Brent Miller, a swim team member, was named king.

After the ceremony,the royal trio and escorts danced to the music of "Storm."

"All of the candidates were kept under suspense and I had no idea what was happening," said Ann Metz, one of the 1977 Sweetheart Queens,"I was really shocked as they announced my name."

'Romeo and Juliet' produced; First time in Wichita school

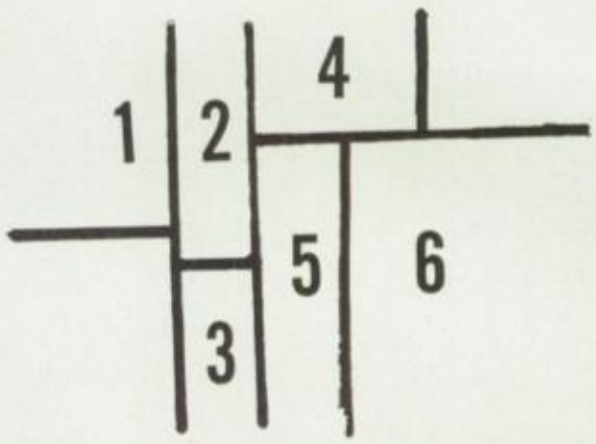
The classical Shakespearean play, "Romeo and Juliet" involving the fued between the Capulets and the Montagues, was retold by the Southeast Fine Arts Department February 24, 25 and 26.

The play featured one of the largest casts ever assembled at Southeast, involving 70 students and 2 months of rehearsals. Playing the roles of Romeo and Juliet,were Kerry Thomas, junior, and Tracy Jabara, senior. The tragic moments in the story were not always dramatic, as lighter moments were brought out by the characters Mercutio and the nurse. Gregg Garrett, junior, played the part of Mercutio as his wit and charm caught the attention of the audience. Jill Hinrichs, junior, played the difficult role of the nurse who was Juliet's closest friend.

"Romeo was hard because it was a lot different from anything I've played before," said Kerry Thomas. "But it was a great experience too because it gave me an insight on Shakespeare."

"This was a difficult show to present because of the intricacy of the script in the play," said Mr. David Omar, director. "But over all, it's been very worthwhile and the kids learned to produce a very big show."

"No one thought that we could do it, but we showed them that we really could," said Tracy Jabara, "I felt really comfortable in the role as Juliet, and I really learned alot about Shakespeare and what it takes to make a large production like "Romeo and Juliet."



1. Romeo's family, the Montagues, gather to mourn his death. 2. Friar Lawrence, played by senior Mark Shore, secretly weds Romeo and Juliet. 3. Juliets' family, the Capulets, on the way to her funeral. 4. Climbing down after their rendezvous, Romeo departs. 5. Listening to the Queen's instructions, the Capulets still feel the loss of their Juliet. 6. Romeo, junior Kerry Thomas, impresses Juliet, senior Tracy Jabara, during their first meeting.

Elections : 1976

Senator Robert Dole brought fame to Kansans in the election year 1976. He was chosen by President Gerald Ford as his running mate. After weeks of talk about political apathy, Americans turned out in unexpectedly high numbers to cast their votes November 2. About 55 per cent of their votes were for former governor of Georgia, Jimmy Carter.

At Southeast, senior government classes hosted the first debate between Mike Meacham and incumbent Eugene Anderson, candidates for Kansas House of Representatives. Other political figures included candidates for U.S. Congress from the fourth district, who both gave speeches. Dan Glickman, 1960 Southeast graduate and incumbent Garner Shriver ran a close race, but Glickman slipped by Shriver, ending his sixteen years in Congress.

"The debates at school were 10 times better than the ones on T.V. between President Ford and Jimmy Carter," said Kathy Boyd, senior.

Buffs rank high in City League; Seven named to All-City roster

Newspaper stories have heralded the "arrival" of Wichita football in recent years. For most Southeast fans, however, it's not merely arriving, it's here.

After falling to Kapaun-Mt. Carmel in the season opener, the need to work harder was even more apparent.

"After the Kapaun game, things just fell into place," said Floyd Smith, senior. "We made up our minds we weren't going to loose."

Work they did, as the Buffs crumbled school after school, pushing ever closer to the championships. As a result, Southeast led the city in both offense and defense.

"I think we're the greatest team 'ever." stated Tom Utter, senior wingback. "We actually learned from our mistakes."

This year's team was not exceptionally big, physically, but as Bruce DeHaven, head defensive coach put it, "The size of their hearts is what counts."

Also highlighting the year was the naming of Seven Southeast Seniors to the All-City teams. Four offensive players, Greg Boyle, Brad Vickery, Ron Hunter, and Floyd Smith (also lst and 2nd leading rushers in the city respectively), and three defensive players, Tom Utter, John McCroskey, and Tom Scholler were honored.

Also named to the All-State team were co-captains McCroskey and Smith.

Summing up the season, senior co-captain Bill Ownby added, "In any athletic event you have the individual stand-outs, but it's still a team effort."

Buffs capture State title; SE first in Wichita history

Southeast broke the jinx of Shawnee Mission dominance this year by capturing the State 5A title. This was the first time in the history of the playoffs that a Wichita school has won the State Championship.

The first round of playoff action came with the Southeast-Shawnee Mission North contest on home territory. Victorious over SM North, 34-7, the Buffs then faced undefeated Shawnee Mission West in Kansas City for the final bout.

Both teams were scoreless until the Vikings made a touchdown in the final two minutes of the first quarter. SM West failed to make the extra point which gave Southeast a slight edge at halftime Senior Ron Hunter's touchdown and junior Kevin Clinton's successful field goal put the first half score at 7-6.

In the fourth quarter, a 25-yard field goal by Clinton and a 12-yard run by fullback Floyd Smith, senior, left the final score at 17-6, clinching the title for the Buffs.

"I hope there's no more doubt about Wichita football," said head coach Jim Davie. "If there is, they're crazy."

Sophs dominate city league; Junior varsity undefeated

Bearing potential varsity players, the sophomore and Junior Varsity football teams displayed the kind of talent now a tradition at Southeast. Both teams were undefeated in the city league this year.

The sophomore team, coached by Mr. Jim Shay, excelled both offensively and defensively. The offense averaged 30 points per game and an average of only 4.3 points was allowed by the defense per game.

This year's 7 - 0 winning streak added to the outstanding sophomore record of 31 - 1, compiled over the last 4½ years.

"I think they'll carry on the football tradition here at Southeast," said Coach Shay.

Coached by Mr. Bruce DeHaven, the Junior Varsity team laid the groundwork for another good team. Made up of mostly juniors and a few sophomores, the team was also undefeated.

J.V. football prepares players for Varsity competition and in the process builds up confidence as well as experience.

"Things look pretty good for next year," added Coach DeHaven.

Harriers capture state crown

Despite poor weather conditions, the Southeast cross country team turned in a very impressive performance as they won the 5A state title.

Placing second was Jeff Campbell, junior, with the time of 9:17 followed by Tom White, senior, with the time of 9:22. Jeff Hayes, senior, placed seventh with the time of 9:27. Good efforts were put in by both Brett Johnson and Bill Coltrane, seniors.

"We couldn't have done it without the whole team or Coach Hatter," stated Jeff Hayes. "He worked us hard and it paid off," he added.

This is the first state title Southeast has won in cross country since 1970.

Tennis, golf teams compete for city, state honors

Coming off a very successful season last year the girl's tennis team continued to dominate the city league by winning the title again. The team played well under the direction of first year coach Mr. Gerald Kerschen.

Placing fourth in the state in doubles were Polly Johnson and Tina Wesley, seniors. Also representing Southeast at state were Megan Mahaffy, senior, and Lisa Goldman, a freshman at Coleman Junior High.

A relatively young team comprised the girl's golf team.

LeeAnn Chambers and Rosalyn Coffman, freshmen, and Linda McNeil and Debbie Deardorff, sophomores, made up the four-man team, while Kara Robertson, sophomore, and Kay Rothfelder, junior, made up the two-man team.

"We should be very strong the next couple of years since we're still young," stated Debbie Deardorff.

Boys, girls share spotlight in state competition

High school gymnastics held a criminal twist this year when an East High gymnast, Pat Laejko, was found to be a 24-year-old graduate from Iowa State.

This incident opened the way for Mark Bankston, the team captain, who had previously placed second in several events which the imposter gymnast had won.

Highlighting the girl's team was Helena Pikuzinski, a senior graduating at first semester. She was awarded a full scholarship to Kansas University for her performances this year.

After a fairly successful season, the gymnastics squad sent six members to State.

Representing the girls were Jo Ann Chang, sophomore, Lauri Coughenhour, junior, and Helena Pikuzinski, senior. For the boys it was Ron Prater, junior, Herbert Forbes, senior, and Mark Bankston, senior.

Coaching the teams once again were Mike Young for the boys and Wanda McCaskey for the girls.

Buffs overpowered by City League opponents

In sports, age does not necessarily measure performance and Southeast had the basketball team to prove it.

Coached by Mr. Jim Givens, the predominately junior team beat big City League foes North and Kapaun-Mt. Carmel.

"By far out best game of the year was against North in which I believe we gave 100%. Against K-MC we put out about 75% with an excellent first half and closing stretch," said Coach Givens. "If we play like we played against North we are going to win quite a few games this season."

Finishing their last year with Southeast are Seniors Mark Boyce, Brent Jones, Avery Sherrod, Kenny Washington.

Coach Givens hopes to return all of the underclassmen promising Southeast a good chance in the City League next year.

Cagers improve early ranking

After a slow start the varsity basketball team finally came together recording some big victories.

One-point losses to rivals Kapaun-Mt. Carmel and East were an added disappointment to the Buffs.

The consistent play of Marc Boyce and Avery Sherrod, seniors, helped lead a balanced attack with Boyce doing the work on the boards.

The Buffaloes played some teams outside the city league. They won the season opener at Topeka but lost to Kansas City Wyandotte in the North Invitational.

Because of the success of the football team, many players were late in beginning basketball practice.

"The reason we lost some games was because we were young. We had three or four juniors playing in all the games," said Kevin Clinton, junior.

Young cagers star on court

Providing Southeast with winning seasons were the Junior Varsity and Sophomore basketball teams.

The J.V. were always there to give the varsity support. They composed a 7-3 record going into the final two games.

The sophomore team also completed a successful season. They posted a 7-2 record in the city including impressive wins over Kapaun Mt. Carmel and Carroll.

"They played with a great deal of enthusiasm. Seven or eight players contributed to the ball game," commented sophomore coach Bruce DeHaven.

Tough CL competition mars girls' performance

With only three returnees from last year's squad, the girls' basketball team faced a season of rebuilding.

At the beginning of the basketball season, Coach Harris said, "The girls are in good spirit, are working hard together and are getting alot of individual practice."

Julie Shurtz, Cherie Price and Kathy Johnson led a team with the lack of experience and height.

Coaching the team again was Donna Harris, the only female coach in the city.

Along with Miss Harris, Mr. Tom Sawyer spent his first year as the Junior Varsity coach.

Other team members included Angie Martin, Nancy Cooksey, both freshmen at Coleman Jr. High, Julie Schafter, sophomore, who is the tallest player at 5'11", Mary French, Elsie Thompson, juniors, Gina Armstrong, Vickie Baldwin, and Cheryl Starr, seniors.

With five returning letterwomen and good J.V. players, the Buffs expect a promising season next year.

Wrestlers face difficulties; Maska takes State

A tough city league made victories hard to come by, as the wrestlers soon found out.

"I expect some of the boys to go to camps this summer and come back with some experience. We've got some good people returning and should be pretty tough next year," stated wrestling coach Jim Elgin.

The team finished with a poor 1-7 record. The grapplers redeemed themselves when they sent three wrestlers to the state competition. Mike Maska, senior, placed first in state at 132 pounds.

"I was pleased with the effort. I wished results were better but they did not have enough experience," added coach Elgin.

Champion swimmers splash to seventh State Title

Winning became a common practice for the 1976-77 Boys Swim team, as the Waterbuffs won every dual meet and also captured the City League and the State Championship titles.

Eight returning lettermen and one South High transfer made up the backbone of the experienced swim team during their interminable season.

Beginning training in early November, the Waterbuffs worked out from 5:30 to 7:00 a.m. and then swam after school from 2—5 p.m. five days a week.

"We've swam harder this year workout-wise than ever before," said Coach Chuck Hatter, who has guided the Waterbuffs to six state titles in the last nine years.

The City League meet was one of the highlights of the season for the team, as two members, Craig Penzler, senior, and Tracy Esslinger, junior, set two City League records in the 200 freestyle and 100 butterfly.

At the State meet, the Waterbuffs using their depth, splashed to the State Championship by scoring 205 points out scoring 2nd place winners Shawnee Mission East with 145.

Craig Penzler set the state record in 200 freestyle with a time of 1:45 7 and the 400 freestyle relay set a new state record with a time of 3:16.61.

"The team as a whole did not swim up to our potential, but we achieved our goals as a team" said Brent Miller, senior, co-captain.

Volleyball squad finishes high, Looks forward to next season

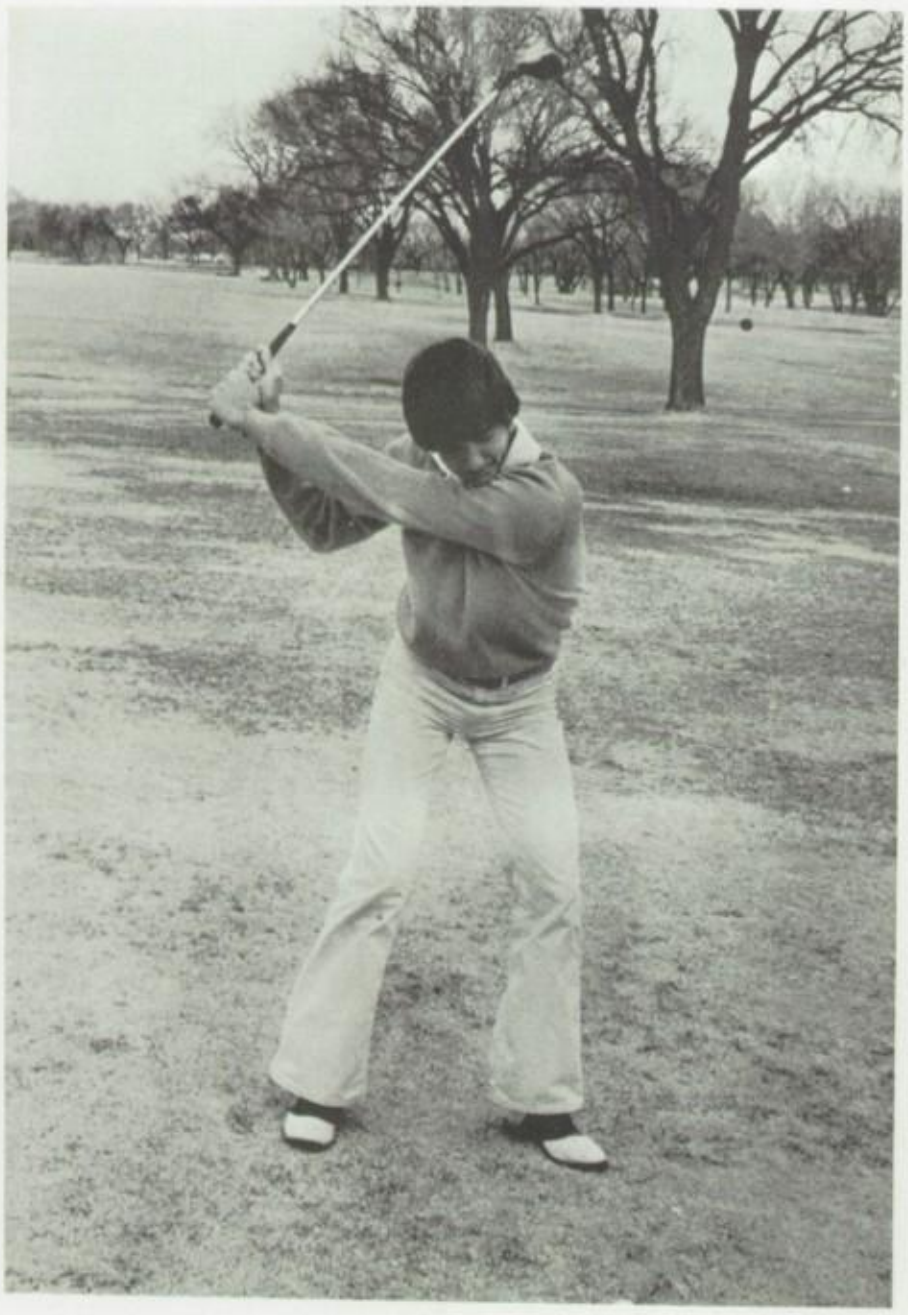
Repeating their accomplishments of last year, the girl's volleyball team, coached by Mrs. Linda Smith, defeated every city school except for Heights and West. They compiled a 5 - 2 win - loss record and a second place finish in the City League tournament.

The junior varsity team, who competed for varsity spots throughout the season, tied for first in the city league. In regional play the team placed second, just missing first place and a chance for state competition.

"We worked real hard this season," stated Jennifer Jones, junior.

"I hope we can go all the way next year since we have three experienced varsity players," she added.

Seniors Anita Green and Julie Shurtz were named on the Eagle/ Beacon All — City team. Also gaining city honor was senior Michelle Stevenson who was named to the second team.



Tennis team eyes season; squad returns lettermen

Going after a second straight city championship, the tennis team began workouts in late February.

The team is led by Adam Beren, sophomore; David Thompson, junior and Robert Pettersen, senior, the only returning lettermen.

The toughest meet should be Kapaun Mt. Carmel. K-MC graduated only one player from last year and has a lot of new talent.

Challenge matches are played throughout the season, giving people a better chance to make the team.

Returning a lot of players, the golf team set out to dominate the city league. The two-man team of Jon Hall and D.R. Senseman, seniors, 1976 state champions rank at top of the ladder.

Practices take place at MacDonald Park under the supervision of Coach Jim Davie.

Track teams utilize workouts

Competing against strong teams from both North and South, the track team had nine returning lettermen.

The mile, half mile and two mile were the strongest events because of returning lettermen, Jeff Hayes, Jeff Campbell, and Tom White.

Pole vault, shot put, discus, javelin and the 440 were the weakest events. There were no returning lettermen in these.

Brent Jones and Willie Dempsey led in high jump, Dempsey and Ron Hunter in long jump. Darryl Littleton's ability lay in the high hurdles and triple jump.

"A building year" was the way girls' track coach Mrs. Linda Smith described her team. Skilled upperclassmen and a number if untried sophomores practiced everyday from 3 until 5 p.m.

After a "very good year" last season, coach Smith said the girls would have more depth in field events this year.

1. Seniors Kent McCray and Ron Hunter master the hand-off in an afternoon practice. 2. Practicing the long jump is Willie Dempsey, senior. 3. Girls Swimming, Softball lead Spring line—up

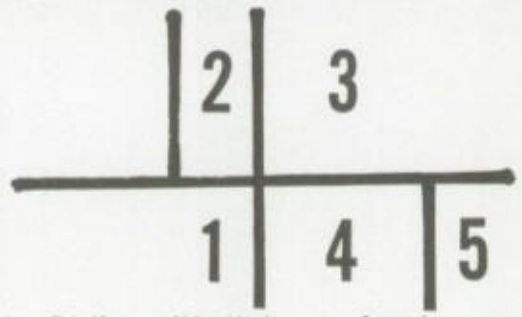
Taking second in Regionals last year, brought high hopes for the 1977 girls' softball team, as four returning lettermen helped mold a strong girls team. Gloria Baird, junior, returned for her third year as pitcher. She pitched for the girls Wichita Arrows team that went to the Nationals in 1976. The girls' softball team added Newton High school to their schedule and also saw the girls play nine games in 10 days.

"I have high hopes for the team," said coach Marilyn Morris.

Coaching for the first time at Southeast for the 1977 girls' swim team, was Terry Gire. Practicing began late because of the boys' swim season, allowed only four weeks of practice before their first dual meet. Entering the fourth year of girls high school swimming, left the Waterbuffs with high hopes as five returning letterwomen and other hopefuls have guided the total dual record to 17—1.



1. Girl's softball team, front row from left — Kelly McClure, Kippy Makepeace, Vickie Baldwin, Julie Shurtz, Gloria Baird. Baseball team anticipates City championship, State honors

Ranked nineteenth in the nation at the end of last year's season, the 1977 baseball team anticipated winning another state championship.

According to veteran coach Jim Deckinger, having seven returning lettermen and winning the last fifteen games in a row were some of the reasons for the national ranking.

The players' ability and willingness to compete as a team and not for individual success were some reasons Deckinger listed.

Tough competition in the city league was expected. South, Carroll and East were top contenders.

Fire delays deadline

Our last deadline was late enough when on Monday noon the fire alarm sounded. Thinking it was a false alarm, we evacuated the building. Smoke was streaming from the auditorium and fire engines rushed to the scene. With students and teachers standing in the middle of Edgemoor, school was cancelled for the day. Bewildered, the nervous staff left Southeast and the unfinished deadline.

Now, a week later, Hoofbeats Volume XX is complete and repairs are beginning on the $25,000 worth of damages.

1977 Hoofbeats represents the events and activities of groups, teams and individuals. As a staff, we worked to incorporate a concept we consider important into these events. That concept is patterns.

If you now notice new patterns in this book, in school activities and in your life, then we have done our job.

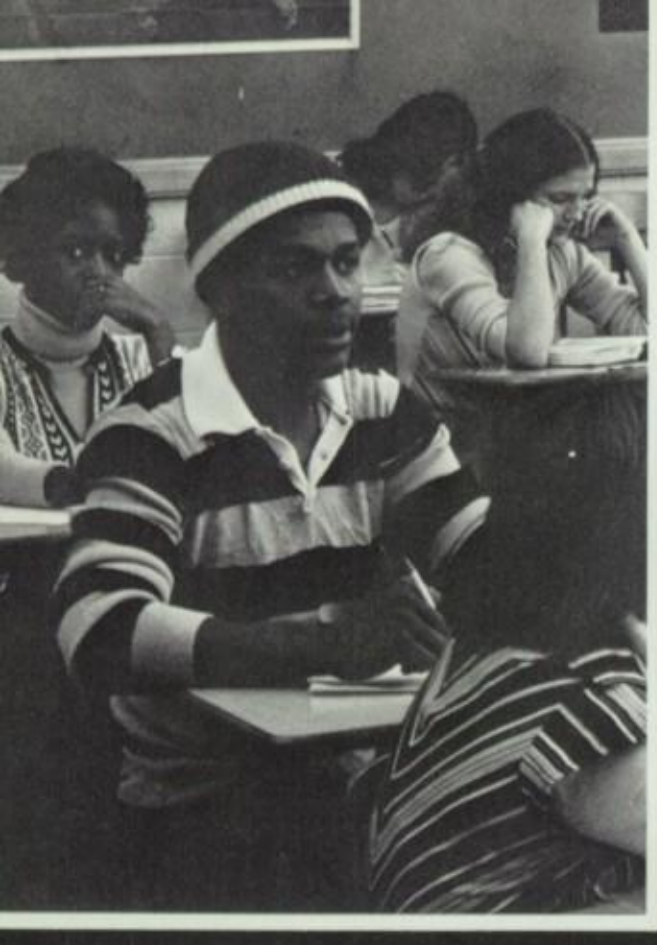
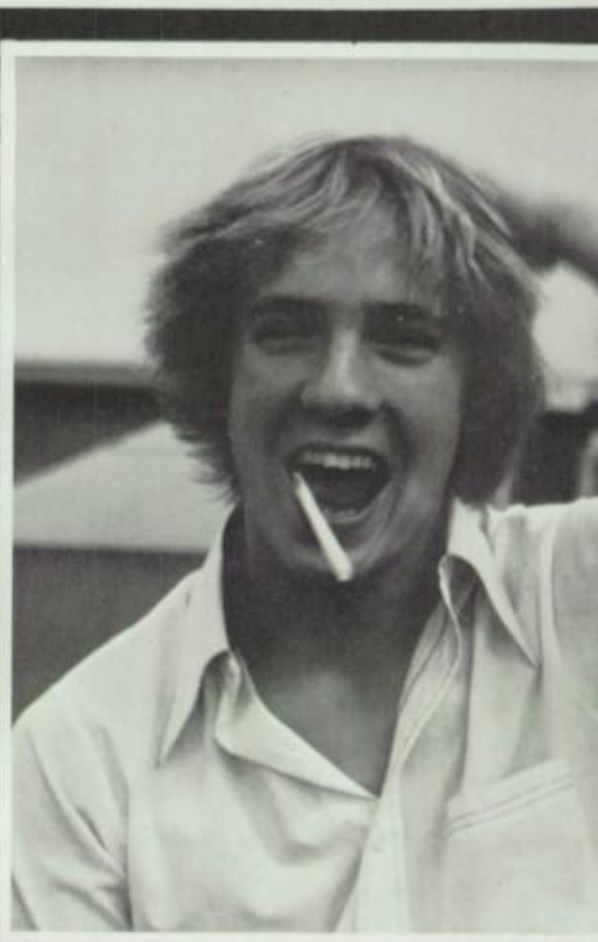
1. Fire fighters and detectives search to determine the origin of the fire. 2. Yearbook staff, back row from left — Lori Jabara, Sports Editor; Susan Keck, Student Life Editor; Nancy Basham, Editor in Chief; Diane Musgrove, Assistant Editor; Front row — Neil Barnett, Assistant Sports Editor; Tom Jenkins, Photographer; Diane Thompson, Organizations Editor.



For twenty years, Southeast has stood at the corner of Edgemoor and Lincoln. Although the school itself is somewhat the same, every year has in its own way influenced the creation of the pattern being molded at Southeast.

In 1977, we found ourselves continuing this same pattern. Certain elements and ideas, such as new friends and teachers, the local and national elections, and the unusually cold winter made it different.

While many patterns were being followed, others were being broken at Southeast. For example, two reigned as Sweetheart queen, the football team won the State championship for the first time, and the Fine Arts Department produced an opera instead of the usual musical.

Throughout this book, we have delved into the concept of patterns both of groups and individuals. But does every person follow a pattern? No, fortunately, in every school there are always a few individuals who somehow manage to break out of the mold. They are watched, criticized, commented on and imitated. Their individualism impresses others and helps to create new patterns.


We should examine our own personal pattern and decide whether we want this sameness to be a part of our lives. As each student leaves Southeast, he or she should strive to break away and become an individual.
